“ I had the honor and privilege of being in the delivery room when Birdie gave birth to CJ. I still remember all the love that filled the space as we waited for her to dilate—surrounded by her friends, all of whom had also delivered their babies with the same midwife.

I was so curious—wondering what the delivery room would look like, what it would feel like, and what childbirth really looked like up close. CJ came into this world after just three strong pushes. When his head appeared, I was amazed. When his shoulders followed, I nearly fainted. Before I could catch my breath, I was handed the scissors to cut his umbilical cord. From that very moment, CJ became my baby too.

And CJ came out ready to rock and roll! Sixteen years young, but CJ lived his life out loud.

I'm sending my heartfelt condolences, prayers, and love to Birdie and the whole family—including my nieces and nephew: Sed Jr., Shawna, and Kezia. I know CJ would want you to keep living fully, just like he did. Do more for CJ. P.U.S.H Pray until something happens for CJ. Keep going and being greater for CJ. You've gained an angel, and I truly believe that every time you look to the sky, you'll see CJ smiling BIG and BRIGHT, cheering you on or if you need a laugh look up and a memory will come to make you laugh.

I love you all. I hate that I'm not there with you all to celebrate his life, but please know that your family in TEXAS loves you deeply. We will keep checking on you, holding you in prayer, and walking with you through this lifelong journey of grief and love.

LONG LIVE CJ

With abundant love, Aunt Erica

“ I will always remember the smile and the laugh. I will never forget the time you came to visit me and stayed 2 hours. When it got dark I said I'll walk with you back home. On the way I commented I'm surprised your daddy hasn't been over to get you by now. You didn't say anything and we was walking in your driveway Nobody was there. I said CJ where is your daddy. You replied ...probably looking for me. About that time Curtis pulled in and he was mad I mean mad. He had been 2 hours up and down the streets looking for you. I will always remember that day.
